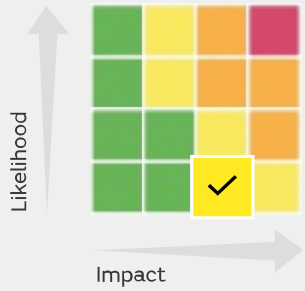
What to expect

- Spray and flooding could lead to difficult driving conditions and some road closures
- There is a small chance that some communities become cut off by flooded roads
- Where flooding occurs, there is a slight chance of delays or cancellations to train and bus services
- There is a small chance of fast flowing or deep floodwater causing danger to life
- There is a small chance that homes and businesses could be flooded, causing damage to some buildings

Further details

A spell of persistent and often heavy rain will affect much of Scotland during Tuesday and Wednesday. Rainfall accumulations of 30 to 50 mm are expected quite widely across the warning area. A few places could see 80-120 mm in a 24 to 36 hour period, these wettest areas are covered by a separate Amber warning. Drier conditions will arrive from the west during the second half of Wednesday. Strong southerly winds are likely to accompany the rain.



Very low likelihood of medium impacts
